

A Classic Want Ad

I remember seeing this advertisement appear on the classified pages of a newspaper:

WANTED

- People for hard work, people who can find things to be done without the help of a supervisor and two or three assistants.
- People who get to work on time and do not imperil the lives of others in an attempt to be the first off the job each day.
- People who listen carefully when they are spoken to and ask only enough questions to ensure the accurate carrying out of instructions.
- People who look you straight in the eye and tell the truth every time.
- People who do not sulk about an hour's overtime in emergencies.
- People who are cheerful and courteous to everyone, and determined to make good.

Indeed, these people are wanted everywhere. Age or lack of experience does not count. There isn't any limit, except their own ambitions, to the number or size of the jobs they can get. They are wanted in every business.
