

A Role to Play

At the dedication of a great cathedral in Milan, Italy, a little girl in the crowd cried out, "I helped build it! I helped build it!"

"What?" exclaimed one of the guards who was standing nearby. "Tell me what you did."

The child replied, "I brought my daddy's lunch to him when he worked here."

The little girl was right. Although she did not actually take part in the construction, her efforts did contribute to the completion of the beautiful edifice.

Every associate within Life Care, Century Park and Life Care at Home must understand this premise. We are all involved in the care of our residents. It is our mission, and those entrusted to us are our highest priority.

Some of us – certified nursing assistants, licensed practical nurses or registered nurses – have the direct, hands-on, personal opportunity to minister to them. But every associate – whether he or she works in housekeeping, laundry, the business office or keeping the grounds beautiful – contributes in a manner that ultimately impacts the service to our residents.

Just remember: A small deed done in the name of Jesus is no small deed.
