

More than Meets the Eye

People wonder, and often debate, what the difference may be between faith and that which we can see for ourselves, or attempt to reason.

Max Lucado, author and minister, in his book Grace for the Moment, presents the appropriate comparison:

Faith is trusting what the eye can't see.

Eyes see the prowling lion. Faith sees Daniel's angel.

Eyes see storms. Faith sees Noah's rainbow.

Eyes see giants. Faith sees Canaan.

Your eyes see your faults. Your faith sees your Savior.

Your eyes see your guilt. Your faith sees His blood.

Your eyes look in the mirror and see a sinner, a failure, a promise-breaker. But by faith you look in the mirror and see a robed prodigal bearing the ring of grace on your finger and the kiss of your Father on your face.

I like Lucado's view of faith.

What about you today? Allow your faith to see more than what is in front of your face.

– Beecher Hunter