

Navigating Life

If life is a voyage, and it is, then how should it be navigated? It's an ages-old question faced by everyone.

Max Lucado, minister and author, gives some important advice in his book, Grace for the Moment.

"Here are some God-given, time-tested truths that define the way you should navigate your life," he said. "Observe them and enjoy secure passage. Ignore them and crash against the ragged rocks of reality:"

- Love God more than you fear hell.
- Make major decisions in a cemetery.
- When no one is watching, live as if someone is.
- Succeed at home first.
- Don't spend tomorrow's money today.
- Pray twice as much as you fret.
- God has forgiven you; you'd be wise to do the same.

Apply these principles, starting today, and see how much better life suddenly becomes.

--Beecher Hunter