

Search for Satisfaction

It seems in our busy world that people are rushing to find satisfaction in whom we are and what we do.

Max Lucado, author and minister, addresses this subject in his book Grace for the Moment. Here is what he writes:

Satisfied? That is one thing we are not. We are not satisfied ...

We take a vacation of a lifetime ... We satiate ourselves with sun, fun, and good food. But we are not even on the way home before we dread the end of the trip and begin planning another.

We are not satisfied.

As a child we say, "If I only were a teenager." As a teen we say, "If only I were an adult." As an adult: "If only I were married." As a spouse: "If only I had kids."

We are not satisfied. Contentment is a difficult virtue. Why?

Because there is nothing on earth that can satisfy our deepest longing. We long to see God. The leaves of life are rustling with the rumor that we will – and we won't be satisfied until we do.

There is much truth in what Lucado has to say. Fulfillment, however, does come with serving our Lord by serving others.

And that's what the associates in Life Care and Life Care at Home do exceedingly well.

– Beecher Hunter