

The Funny Bone and the Soul

Well, it's the end of another work week (for most of us), and the weekend is straight ahead. Perhaps it's a good time to share a few chuckles, with some wisdom mixed in, from some famous people. Try these:

- “All of us have moments in our lives that test our courage. Taking children into a house with a white carpet is one of them.” (Erma Bombeck)
- “Why do they call it rush hour when nothing moves?” (Robin Williams)
- “It doesn't make a difference what temperature a room is, it's always room temperature.” (Steven Wright)
- “An expert is a man who tells you a simple thing in a confused way in such a fashion as to make you think the confusion is your own fault.” (William Castle)
- “You can only be young once. But you can always be immature.” (Dave Barry)
- “A study of economics usually reveals that the best time to buy anything is last year.” (Marty Allen)
- “You can find energizing moments in each aspect of your life, but to do so you must learn how to catch them, hold on to them ... and allow yourself to follow where they lead.” (Marcus Buckingham)
- “I don't know who I am, but life is for learning.” (Joni Mitchell)
- “Love, like everything else in life, should be a discovery, an adventure, and like most adventures, you don't know you're having one until you're right in the middle of it.” (E.A. Bucchianeri)
- “Years back, someone said cod liver oil was the cure-all. Cheerfulness is more palliative and with no unpleasant aftertaste.” (Mary Christelle Macaluso)

Perhaps we have tickled your funny bone and touched your soul – all in the space of a few minutes' read.

And if that is so, it's a good thing.
