

Unexpected Bonus

The Los Angeles Times, on December 15, 1996, reported that David Suna and John Tu sold 80 percent of their company, Kingston Technology Corp., the world's largest manufacturer of computer memory products, for $1.5 billion.

The two men decided to share their windfall with their employees. The average bonus payment their workers received was just over $75,000. Suna summarized their decision: "To share our success with everybody is the most joy we can have."

Indeed, as the Bible instructs, it is more blessed to give than to receive.

What are you sharing with your associates today? Maybe a smile, or a good morning greeting with enthusiasm and sincerity. Or perhaps a hug or a hearty handshake. It could be your time, spent in encouraging a fellow worker who is struggling to climb some mountain in his or her life.

Sharing, in a fashion that enriches another's life, does produce joy.

--Beecher Hunter