

WISDOM in a TWIST OF HUMOR

Wisdom can be found in unlikely places. Recently, I was reading a publication particularly designed to bring some chuckles to the reader. And a particular article does offer some comic relief to those who may be experiencing tensions of a day.

But embedded throughout were gems of wisdom. Entitled Irrefutable Principles of Business Life, here is the composition:

- A clear conscience should never be confused with a bad memory.
- Sweeping the room with a glance doesn't qualify as tidying one's work space.
- Age is a very high price to pay for maturity.
- A closed mouth gathers no foot.
- Invoices travel through the mail at twice the speed of checks.
- Whine doesn't improve with age.
- Experience is a wonderful thing. It enables you to recognize a mistake when you make it again.
- A consultant who thinks logically provides a nice contrast to the real world.
- Just when you start to win the rat race, scientists will develop bigger, faster rats.
- Jumping to conclusions, running your mouth and ducking responsibility doesn't count as fitness exercises.
- It is better to light one small candle than to be seen with no makeup under fluorescent lighting.

So maybe the best advice today is to take some laughter along on your journey, and make a place in your heart for it.

My soul shall be joyful in the Lord (Psalm 35:9 KJV).
