

WIT AND WISDOM

Wit and wisdom are often expressed in one-liners, for brevity is both refreshing and remembered in a world awash in words. Check out some of these examples for day-brighteners:

- If you can't make it better, you can laugh at it – Erma Bombeck.
- Confidence is keeping your chin up; overconfidence is sticking your neck out – Author Unknown.
- Never insult an alligator until after you have crossed the river – Cordell Hull.
- If it weren't for electricity, we'd all be watching television by candlelight – George Gobel.
- Many people should learn to tell their dollars where to go instead of asking them where they went – Roger Babson.
- There are many things that will catch my eye, but there are only a few that catch my heart – Tim Redmon.
- If you don't distinguish yourself from the crowd, you'll just be the crowd – Rebecca Mark.
- Competition is a way of life; if you don't have a really tough competitor, you ought to invent one – Bill Smithburg.
- Don't learn the tricks of the trade; learn the trade – James Charlton.
- When a man has not a good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for letting it alone – Thomas Scott.

Somewhere in that mine is a nugget or two that will enrich your life.
